

Living my work and bringing it to you.

YK Hong is a nationally renowned trainer, educator, lecturer, writer, organizer and cultural worker.

She has lectured at countless panels, keynotes and other speaking engagements around the country and abroad on a variety of topics such as Community Accountability, Coalition Building, Sexual Liberation, Queer Organizing, Poly Politics, Strategies for People of Color, The New Anti-Oppression, Asians in the Spotlight, Multi-Issue Organizing and many more.

YK has also been professionally training organizations, groups and individuals in anti-oppression work for the past 10 years.

She is currently the Lead Trainer for Freedom Trainers, a national network of consultant trainers who use political popular education to help organizations develop their analysis around anti-oppression and organizational development.

She has also been working on a political comedy act to address the many ways she experiences the intersections of oppression such as being Asian, gender queer and poly. This piece is tentatively entitled "Intentionality," a title describing decisions, thoughts and reflections of navigating through an increasingly complex world.

YK is available for her "Workshop for the World" performance series, where she literally performs her workshops on stage, in a creative setting, to bring her expertise to a larger audience. With wit and a wealth of experience, YK brings attention to issues of internalized oppression, ways of personal evolution and accountability.

As a grassroots educator YK has written several articles and essays on anti-oppression, sexual liberation, multi-issue coalition building and personal growth. She is currently in the process of writing a book incorporating her life experiences and ways of applying them to our practical lives as conscious, intentional beings.
